"Rejuctantly they opened the door, and I at suce blew my whistle for assistance, first teiling the two proprietors that they were under arrest. They resisted arrest later."

Silverman and Sandlert both denied the story.

Magistrate Brann fined the prisoners $3 each.

MONDAY, July 20, The pressure to sell securities to-day was not, judging from the volume of business, much greater than at certain times last week, but the rapidity and extent of the decline in prices up to the last hour of business showed that the demand for stocks, particularly from legitimate buyers, was decidedly smaller than at any time since the present decline began. A lower level of prices at London was discourpetus in the direction of lower prices was the withdrawal of nearly three and a half million dollars in gold from the Treasury, chiefly for to Germany to-morrow. details of the withdrawals are $1,550,000 in Assay Office bars, and $1,480,000 in coin from the Sub-Treasury, a total of $3,030,000 for Europe, and $350,000 in coin from the Sub-Treasury by Canadian banks. It is understood that this last amount is not for shipment. These withdrawais reduce the Treasury's gold balance below $90,000,000, a

It looks very much as if the threats of the Populists and silverites had deprived the great majority of investors of the last vestige of lerably below $50,000,000 before it its memorable bond issue in February. and to nearly the same low figure before it leted the last bond sale, it would seem that ude for the Treasury than those who were ed with its management. plenish the Treasury stock of gold. Some of the prices made for stocks to-day were vividly suggestive of the most trying times Wall street has been through during the last five or six years. The volume of trading was not abnormally large, but the steady shrinkage in values, following the material declines recorded last week, was more ominous and distressing than the wild fluctuations in a panic in which the rebound is frequently as violent as the drop. The rendency was all one way until the last half hour, when, for the first time in more than a week, prices rallied with a fair degree of snap. This final movement was of value because it demonstrated how comparatively little buying would be required to turn the market at least temporarily. As a matter of fact, the bulk of the buying at the close was by a few operators for short account who had obtained an inkling of the programme that the banks are endeavoring to carry out. In spite of the rally the active Granger stocks closed 256053 P cent. lower than on Saturday, United States Leather preferred 4 points lower. The most extensive trading was in Sugar Refining, St. Paul, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Rock Island, Louisville and Nashville, American Tobacco, United States Leather, Chicago Gas, Atchison, and Missouri Pacific. Although the London market was unsettled by fresh unfavorable developments affecting Kaffirs, foreign arbitrage houses were able to dispose of about 20,000 shares to advantage in that market. As yet foreign operators show no disposition to part with the stocks they have acquired here during the last few weeks, the bulk of which have been shipped to the other side. Fears that they may turn sellers form one of the bugaboos of the present extremely sensitive speculative situation. The closing was in marked contrast with the tone that prevailed
